11th National Dairy Product Judging Contest -2014

Increasing quality consciousness of consumers make it necessary for the dairy plant personnel to monitor sensory qualities of dairy products with great vigilance. With a view to provide necessary exposure of judging and skill development for better sensory evaluation of dairy products in the technocrats; Alumni Association of SMC College of Dairy Science in collaboration with Faculty of Dairy Science, Anand Agricultural University, Anand is organizing 11th "National Dairy Products Judging Contest" on 11th September, 2014 (Thursday).

Who can participate?

There will be two categories of participants (1) UG or PG students from academic institutions and (2) Dairy plant personnel. In each category, a team of 2 members (sensory evaluators) can participate. Each institution/dairy plant can send only one team for the contest. A teacher/team leader may accompany each team.

Types of products and system of evaluation

The products selected for this year's judging contest are Milk, Dahi and Ghee. Standard score-cards will be given to each evaluator. The panelist may be asked to identify as well as rank the intensity of defects. The scores given by individual panelists and team average will be compared with the score given by an expert panel for deciding the winners. In each category, two trophies will be given for the winning teams. Two prizes will also be given to individual evaluators. All the participants will be given a certificate of participation.

Direct Producer-Consumer Interaction

The industry has always been looking for a platform of interaction with its consumers directly. It is said that the “Consumer is the King” and his/her feedback is considered to be the most valuable. Having identified this need of the industry, we had organized “Direct Producer-Consumer interaction” event last year. Looking to the success of the event, we would like to repeat it this year too. This event is planned between 14.00- 16.00. The participating industries may bring their newly developed products and exhibit during the event. We plan to invite selected persons, representing different segments of the society and of different age groups, viz., engineers, doctors, professionals, house-wives, working women, academicians, youths and few school children, etc. who are the direct consumers of the dairy products. The industry may get direct feedback on their products from this selected group. Those industries who wish to bring their products for this event are required to inform us about the products in advance and shall come with their own feedback forms.
